Jones Waldo Attorneys, Randall Holmgren and Matthew Mitton, Complete Vital IRA Training

Industry Training Provided by Nationally Known IRA Trainer, Ed Slott, and Helps Attorneys Work with Clients on Complicated IRA Issues

Salt Lake City – August 17: Jones Waldo Holbrook & McDonough, a 131-year old law firm in Salt Lake City, has announced that two of its estate planning attorneys, Randall Holmgren and Matthew Mitton, recently completed extensive IRA training at an industry conference in Las Vegas.

The training was presented by nationally-known IRA and retirement plan expert, Ed Slott. Slott's training was targeted to estate-planning attorneys who advise clients about protecting and preserving income tax and estate tax benefits for IRA accounts and retirement accounts (401k, 403b, and 457). These are issues that are highly complicated and frequently changing. Consumers can protect substantial amounts of money when they know the complexities of these laws and the myriad pitfalls and mistakes that can occur from not being well informed.

The conference and training was sponsored by the American Academy of Estate Planning Attorneys, the premier national organization promoting and fostering excellence in estate planning. Holmgren and Mitton are members of the Academy.

With estate planning attorneys at the center of many critical retirement planning discussions with their clients, this type of education gives clients a higher level of confidence in the professionals they work with. Attorneys completing this training will now be listed on Mr. Slott's website directory to help consumers and professionals alike find qualified advisors and attorneys.
